

GENEALOGY OF THE WINN FAMILY

Data collected and compiled on the Winn family
by James A. Winn 916 North Fifth Street
Fort Scott, Arkansas January 1936

The Winns are very ancient and honorable family of Welch origin lineal descendents of the Kings of Britain and the Prince of Wales, and connected by Marriage with the best families of England and America. The sir name "Wynne" was assumed by John, the son of Meredith sp(?), Even of Gwydir in Carnarvan County, Wales born in 1500. The direct line of descendents from these Welch noblemen to our Wynnes and Winns of Virginia is not documental, but all Wynnes, Wynns, and Winns of Virginia have a common origin in the Welch family of that name.

Several very interesting families bearing the name of Wynne or Winn came early to Virginia. The very first of the Wynnes to arrive was Captian Peter Wynne who came to Jamestown, Virginia in the second supply ship with the Lord De La Ware in 1608. He died in 1609, leaving no descendents that are known. Sir Owen Wynne, of Gwydir came to Virginia in 1611, locating in Gloucester County. He returned to Wales, leaving two sons in Virginia. Captian Thomas Winn was in Charles City Missouri (?) before 1657, leaving a family of sons. The early history of these families are confused because many of the early records have been destroyed.

Of the interesting Winn families is one in particular, is a series of "Minor" Winns who lived in Prince William and Fauquire Counties, Virginia. They seem to have descended from the Winns of York, Hanover and Carolina Counties of Virginia.

John Winn of Middlesex, Hanover and Westmoreland Counties, Virginia, is supposed to have been the son of Sir Owen Wynne who in 1611 came to Virginia from Wales. He married Elizabeth Minor, believed to have been the daughter of John Minor of Westmoreland County Virginia. They had, with other children, two sons, Richard Winn, born 1670, the ancestor of the Winns of Middlesex County, Virginia, and Minor Winn, born about 1672, the ancestor of the Winns of Caroline, Prince William, and Fauquier Counties, Virginia.

SUPPLEMENTAL STATEMENT

No positively new discovery, but it appears that Captian John Winn, (Wynne) who married Elizabeth Minor, was the son of Sir Owen Wynne, the fourth son of Sir John Wynne of Gwydir in Wales. Sir Owen Wynne came first to Virginia in 1611, returned to Wales, and came again in 1620 and returned to Wales in 1649 to succeed his brother as the third Baronett Wynne. He left in Virginia two or three sons: Captian John, Owen and probably Hugh. When Sir Owen died in 1660 he was succeeded by his younger son Richard Wynne. A long period of strife and litigation followed and that branch of the family in Virginia changed the spelling of the name to Winn; this began the sons of Captian John Wynne. Richard Winn and Minor Winn were sons of the Captian John Winn (Wynne). Richard Winn, son of the John Winn and Elizabeth Minor, born about 1670, ancestor of the Winns of Middlesex County Virginia, married first Sarah, and second, Ann Cooke. (Information taken from Christ Church Parish Register ---- see book "Winn and Jarvis). Richard and his wife Sarah had (ten) children.

He served in both the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812, being a Colonel in the War of 1812. "Major General Richard Winn (1750-1818). Colonel in American Revolution, Brigadier General and Major General S. C. Milita, Member of Congress 1793-1812, Judge County Court, etc. Died in Tennessee. His grave has been plowed over and there is no tombstone, although one was sent there years ago, but some fault, cannot be located. He was a fine mathematician and surveyor and his services were secured by wealthy Englishmen to survey and locate lands for them, his compensation being every eight tract of land. Thus he secured large quantities of land before the Revolutionary War. At the beginning of the Revolutionary War he entered the services of South Carolina and was commissioned in June 1775 as First Lieutenant of Rangers in the attack of Sullivan's Island. He so distinguished himself that he was in command of a special expedition for the defense of Fort McIntosh on the Saltillo River; returning to Fairfield, he took command of the militia and won in several hard-fought battles. Captain Richard Winn was severely wounded at Hanging Rock. The defeat of the British depended a great deal on his courage and conduct. He was made Colonel before peace was declared. His home was looted and burned, slaves carried off and his family driven away. Colonel Winn held several civil offices and was elected Brigadier General and afterwards Major General by Legislature of South Carolina. On December 16, 1793, he took the required oath for the seat in the house of Representatives where he remained until 1873. On 4 June 1812 he signed President Calhoun's bill declaring the second war for independence against Britain. Children of Richard Winn and Priscilla McKinley:
